Google review reply - positive

WHEN TO USE

A happy customer left 4-5 stars.

THE PROMPT

Write a reply to this Google review: '[REVIEW TEXT]' from [CUSTOMER NAME]. Thank them by name, mention one specific detail from their review, invite them back with a small hook ([LOYALTY OFFER - e.g. 10% off next visit]), and keep it under 60 words. Warm, human, no corporate phrases like 'we appreciate your feedback'.

CUSTOMIZE

Reply within 48 hours - speed signals care.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

A reply that makes that customer a regular.

Google review reply - negative

WHEN TO USE

A bad review just dropped.

THE PROMPT

Write a reply to this negative review: '[REVIEW TEXT]'. Rules: (1) apologize for the specific experience without grovelling, (2) state the facts calmly if the review is inaccurate, (3) offer a concrete fix offline (phone/visit), (4) never argue or mention the reviewer's tone. Under 80 words. End with an invitation to give us another chance.

CUSTOMIZE

Send the same fix to your team so it doesn't repeat.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

A reply that shows future customers how you handle problems.

Review request to happy customers

WHEN TO USE

Right after a good transaction.

THE PROMPT

Write a short message asking [CUSTOMER] for a Google review after [WHAT THEY BOUGHT]. Make it easy: (1) one line on why reviews help a small business like ours, (2) a direct link, (3) a one-question prompt: 'What would you tell a friend about us?'. Optionally offer a small thank-you ([INCENTIVE]). Under 60 words, text-message friendly.

CUSTOMIZE

Send it 2 hours after the visit, not 2 weeks.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

A steady drip of new reviews without awkwardness.

Local ad copy (Facebook/Instagram)

WHEN TO USE

Running a local promo.

THE PROMPT

Write 3 local ad variations for [BUSINESS] offering [OFFER] in [CITY/AREA]. Each: 35-word primary text mentioning the location, 2 headlines (one with the offer, one with the result), 1 CTA. Angles: (1) problem they have [PROBLEM], (2) new in the area, (3) limited offer [DEADLINE]. No stock-photo language, no exclamation spam.

CUSTOMIZE

Target radius 5-15 km around your shop.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

Local ads that feel like a neighbour recommended you.

Customer win-back SMS/email

WHEN TO USE

Old customers went quiet.

THE PROMPT

Write a win-back message to customers who haven't visited in 90+ days. We're [BUSINESS] in [AREA]. Structure: (1) we miss you + one specific thing they might remember, (2) what's new since they last came [NEWS], (3) a real incentive [OFFER - e.g. GH¢ 20 off] with an expiry [DATE]. Keep it under 100 words, warm not desperate.

CUSTOMIZE

Segment by what they bought before if your system allows.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

A message that brings back the customers you already paid to acquire.

Weekend social post pack

WHEN TO USE

You need 3 posts, fast.

THE PROMPT

Write 3 social posts for [BUSINESS] this weekend: (1) Saturday - a 'what we've been up to' story post with a behind-the-scenes detail, (2) Sunday - a value post (tip/advice related to what we sell) [TOPIC], (3) a soft promo for [OFFER]. Each under 70 words, with 3 relevant hashtags. Voice: [VOICE].

CUSTOMIZE

Snap one real photo for each - posts with faces win.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

A weekend of content in 10 minutes.

New product/service announcement

WHEN TO USE

Launching something new.

THE PROMPT

Write an announcement for [NEW PRODUCT/SERVICE] at [BUSINESS]: (1) 3 social captions (curiosity, benefit, story angles), (2) an email or WhatsApp broadcast (100 words), (3) a 20-second video script. Each must answer: what it is, who it's for, what it costs, how to get it. No hype words.

CUSTOMIZE

Pre-sell to your regulars before the public announcement.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

A launch that hits every channel you actually use.

Local partnership pitch

WHEN TO USE

Finding businesses to cross-promote with.

THE PROMPT

Write a short pitch to [PARTNER BUSINESS] in [AREA] for a cross-promotion: we serve [OUR AUDIENCE], they serve [THEIR AUDIENCE], and there's overlap. Propose a simple swap: [WHAT WE OFFER THEM] for [WHAT THEY OFFER US - e.g. flyer in their shop, social shoutout, bundle deal]. Keep it under 120 words, specific about the overlap.

CUSTOMIZE

Pick partners whose customers are your customers.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

A pitch that builds your growth network for free.

Seasonal promo ideas

WHEN TO USE

A holiday or season is coming.

THE PROMPT

Give me 5 promotional ideas for [BUSINESS] for [SEASON/HOLIDAY] in [AREA]. For each: the offer, the angle, the channel (social/email/in-store), and a one-line hook. Focus on things a small team can actually execute in a week - no 3-month campaigns.

CUSTOMIZE

Pick ONE idea and execute it well.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

A seasonal promo menu to choose from.

Handling a viral moment

WHEN TO USE

Something about your business went unexpectedly viral.

THE PROMPT

A post about my business [WHAT HAPPENED - e.g. a video, a review, a complaint] is getting traction. Write: (1) a public reply/comment that's gracious and on-brand [VOICE], (2) a follow-up post that turns the attention into something useful (offer, story, clarification), (3) what NOT to say in the comments. Keep everything under 80 words each.

CUSTOMIZE

Reply fast while attention is high; stay humble.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

A playbook for turning chaos into customers.
